

Jack Mayer, CFA
Senior Portfolio Specialist
Sands Capital

Jack leads a team of portfolio specialists at Sands Capital, an active, long-term investor in leading innovative growth businesses, globally. As the primary interface between Sands Capital's client relations and portfolio management teams, portfolio specialists communicate investment strategy and portfolio positioning, conduct competitive and marketplace analysis, and develop thought leadership content. Jack works most closely with the firm's global, ex-U.S., and emerging market public equity strategies.

Prior to joining Sands Capital in 2016, Jack spent nearly a decade at leading asset and wealth managers in New York. He was most recently a vice president and alternative investments portfolio specialist at Morgan Stanley Wealth Management, where he advised on manager selection and portfolio construction for a custom hedge fund portfolio program and was a member of the OCIO group's investment committee. Earlier, he was involved in private equity investor relations and product management. Jack began his career at J.P. Morgan, first as an analyst in the firm's private bank, and later as a wholesaler in the firm's asset management business.

Jack is a CFA charterholder and earned a BA from the College of William & Mary. He resides in Alexandria, VA with his wife and two children.
