

Colton Neff, CFA
Managing Director
RockCreek

Colton Neff is a Managing Director at RockCreek, where works with senior investment and advisory board members to develop RockCreek's macro-outlook. In addition, he is responsible for sourcing and monitoring investments in emerging markets and absolute return strategies.

Colton joined RockCreek after graduating cum laude from the University of Pittsburgh with a bachelor's in Finance, a minor in Economics, and a certificate in International Business. While at RockCreek he earned his CFA designation and is a current charterholder. When not working on investments, Colton can often be found reading or listening about them; he is a founding member of the RockCreek book club and a particular fan of the Value Investing with Legends podcast. He is also a coffee aficionado; between his home and office in New York, you'll find at least six different means to brew up a cup of direct-trade beans. He lives with his wife and dog, all three of whom love to escape the city for the slopes as often as they can each winter and enjoy a good swim down south in the summer.
